

New redesigned site is launched

Contributed by Robert
Sunday, 21 January 2007

For the past several months I have been working to redesign this website from the ground up. I am thrilled to announce Domain-Name-Registration-Info.com got a facelift. More features and tools were added as well. Don't forget to check my free limited time offer.

For the past several months I was working hard on completely redesigning this website from the ground up and finally I am thrilled to announce the new look of Domain-Name-Registration-Info.com is here.

Now you can enjoy easier to use navigation more free content, new sections and especially my new advanced domain name search tools. Since the tools are still in a testing phase I am giving you the opportunity to try it yourself complete free of charge. All you have to do is to create your free account using this simple registration form . This is just a limited time offer. As soon as I am finished with the testing I will close the door and only paying members will be able to use it. Take advantage of this opportunity while you can.